

FATHER YOU DESERVES UNCONDITIONAL LOVE

I vividly remember my father in those days back. He was a good looking man with dark complexion. He was one of the greatest people I had. He was always aspirational and supportive in every situation I was in. He used to encourage me to be hardworking, honest, obedient and generous to the world. He used to tell us that education is the best weapon to conquer the world.

Even though my father is gone, I am lucky to have Arok Garang and Deng Kuany to act as my fathers. They are very supportive and caring. They always encourage me to follow my desires and I will be successful. Deng Kuany once said <sup>that</sup> for a person to be successful, you need to focus all your energy in the future but not the past. I thank God for having all these people in my life and they deserve unconditional love. Happy fathers' day to all fathers of the world.